DEAR SENIORS:

I submit the following poems for your reflection.

Grant Norris.

Did you tackle that trouble that came your way,
With a resolute heart and fearful,
Or hide your face from the light of day,
With a craving soul and tearful?
A trouble's a ton, or a trouble's an ounce;
Or a trouble is what you make it;
It isn't the fact that your hurt that counts—
But only, how did you take it?

You are beaten to earth, well, what of that?
Get up with a smiling face!
It's nothing against you to fall down flat;
But to lie there, that's disgrace;
The harder you fall, the higher you bounce;
Be proud of your blackened eye;
It isn't the fact that you're licked that counts—
It's how did you fight and why?

And though you be done to the death, what then?
If you battled the best you could;
If you did your part in the world of men,
Why the critic will call it good!
Death comes with a crawl or comes with a pounce;
But whether he's slow or sly;
It isn't the fact that your dead that counts—
But only, how did you die?

---

Let me be a little kinder, let me be a little blinder
To the faults of those about me; let me praise a little more.
Let me be, when I am weary, just a little bit more cheery;
Let me serve a little better those that I am striving for,
Let me be a little braver, when temptation bids me waver;
Let me strive a little harder to be all that I should be;
Let me be a little meeker with the brother who is weaker;
Let me think more of my neighbor and a little less of me.

DEDICATION

486 names of alumni are found on the records of the Curwensville High School. This year's class will make 522 alumni. It has taken forty (40) years to produce 522 alumni of the Curwensville High School. The present enrollment in the Curwensville Public Schools is over 1000. These graduates and students have blazed the trail for us. We have seen and recognized their marks in the evolution of citizenship in the Home, in the Church, and in the State.

Alumni are now doing great things for their alma maters. As a result of this alumni love we now have in Curwensville a gymnasium, the gift of Mr. William H. Robinson, and a permanent home for the Supervising Principal of the Curwensville Schools, the gift of Mrs. R. D. Swope and children as a memorial to an honored husband, father and citizen.

Principal Grant Norris says that within five years Curwensville will be in great need of a new high school building, and he is looking to the alumni for guidance and assistance. Curwensville is destined to remain an educational center. The state roads leading into Curwensville will greatly augment the school population. The Curwensville High School is not only the Alma Mater of a large host of students in Curwensville, but the Alma Mater of a large number of students in Pike Township and other school districts.

Our hope is that this Echo will arouse pleasant memories in our alumni, stimulate a continues interest in Curwensville High School and the education of those who are coming after us, and be accepted as a tribute of the class of 1926 to the Alumni of the Curwensville High School.

DID YOU PASS?

This is one of the greatest questions of the age, "Did you pass?", "Did you succeed?", "Did you get by?" It involves not only the students of education, but is a question for the public in general.

It is surprising the number of chances that are taken in every day life, the number of dangers ignored, the hazards discarded, the warnings unheeded. It cannot always be said, "I escaped with the skin of my teeth". Many do not escape, many are disappointed, crippled, cast down, destroyed and forgotten because they took too hazardous a chance. There should be no accidents, there should be no disappointments, there should be no failures.

Every person who takes a chance to win takes a chance to lose. The one accompanies the other. There are no chances in the great plan of life. School, business life, professional life will never get away from that law. It matters not much whether you passed or did not pass, but it does matter how you have tried and where your trying has left you.

At the close of this school year we shall frequently hear the question, "Did you pass?" Often the person who passes has made a greater failure than someone who has done his best. He who does less than his best is failing all the time and he who is doing his best is all the time passing. He may be getting along slowly but he is getting along surely. No student should be satisfied with a barely passing mark when he is able to stand high in his class. If he is satisfied then he is failing and sooner or later he will be marked, "Failure". It isn't hard to get by, usually. And that is part of the danger. It is easier to bluff and get by part of the time than to be the real thing. It is even possible to get by, and to fool your teachers and most of your classmates, and to graduate with grades thus earned but by doing so, you have simply cheated yourself out of the values of your school work.

The greatest of men have suffered persecution for what they tried to do. But they did their best and we are profiting by their example. If some of these great men had failed, imagine what it would mean to us today. If you fail or do not do your best all the time, someone is going to suffer.

E. S. K.

"Somebody said that it couldn't be done,
But he with a chuckle replied
That maybe it couldn't, but he would be one
Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried.
So he buckled right in, with the trace of a grin
On his face. If he worried he hid it.
He started to sing as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, and he did it.
"Somebody scoffed: 'O, you'll never do that:
At least no one ever has done it.'
But he took off his coat and he took off his hat,
And the first thing we knew he'd begun it
With a lift of his chin and a bit of a grin,
Without any doubting or quibbling:
He started to sing, as he tackled the thing
That couldn't be done, and he did it.
"There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done,
There are thousands who prophesy failure:
There are thousands to point out to you one by one,
The dangers that wait to assail you;
But just buckle in with a bit of a grin,
Then take off your coat and go to it;
Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing
That 'cannot be done' and you'll do it."

THE LIBRARY

The library of the Curwensville High School, was established at the opening of the present term, to promote and establish a means, whereby the scholars and teachers might broaden their education and become familiar with topics that they previously knew little or nothing about.

Each period, a member of the senior class, assumes charge of the library and he is responsible that proper conduct is maintained at all times, that no person destroys or misuses the books, and magazines, and keeps a record of all the volumes loaned out.

At the present time the library is one of the principal sources of attraction in the high school building. Each pupil looks forward to the time spent in the library as an enjoyable means of gaining more education, and a place where he can relax from the regular school routine. This tends to increase efficiency in the class room, clears the mind for deeper things, which they are confronted with daily.

The library has had a very good effect on the scholars in the grades as they are now establishing in most of the grades a library founded on the same principles as the High School Library.

The Library now is a necessity to the High School, each pupil depends on it to obtain some knowledge or education without which they would be handicapped.

OUR THOUGHTS ON GRADUATION

The sun is just now peeping, 'bove the mountain crest,
It smiles as though 'twas rising from a pleasant night of rest.
It seems to smile to us, we know it holds in store,
The day that we have longed for, a day we'll see no more.
Why does this day so shine to us? This day we graduate,
This day do we receive that prized certificate.
But still although we're blessed, there's one thought makes us sad,
To think school-days're ended, and all the times we've had.
How thoughts of school, they cling to us, no hearts would feel more pain
Than when the school bell's ringing and we know it calls us not again.
So we must leave our dear old school, to do our task in life,
To try and do our share and bit in this great world of strife.
So thanks to thee, kind people, for giving us so great a gift.
The one that in our future, will give us so great a lift.
It's worth is more than riches, whether diamonds, silver or gold,
For it from us they cannot take, nor it cannot be sold.
We thank you, Oh, kind reader, for you we must confess,
Have been the ones that boosted us, on that great road, success.

CLASS POEM

It isn't the marks your receive, Seniors,
It's the work you put into a thing
It's the study and concentration and
The human pace back of the thing.
It isn't what people will say of you, Seniors,
It's what you think of yourself.
It's the love and the love of being and
The human stuff back of that self.
It isn't what life hands out to you, Seniors,
It's the thing for which you reach;
It's the quiet determination
And the human pluck back of that reach.
Now, Seniors, if you wish to shine
Read carefully over these words of mine;
Say them over one by one,—HUMAN FORCE,
STUFF and PLUCK,
And surely they will bring you a share of LUCK.

THE above is a picture of a bronze tablet placed in the masonry of the wall of the William H. Robinson Gymnasium, as a memorial of Mr. Robinson's generous gift to the Curwensville school children, and in the hope that it might be suggestive to those who, like Mr. Robinson, would do good in the world.

S E N I O R S

MINNIE M. ARDARY "Min"

*Minnie is a class-mate we're surely proud to own;
When difficulties come her way, you'll find they've hit a stone.*

*Her mind is always working, there is no room
for fears;
For she's going through our high school in just three years.*

* * *

IDEA BENNETT "Frenchy"

*A leader of our class, I'm very proud to say;
Yet some one has stolen her heart away;*

And then she has a motto, we think it must be work;

For in her duties at our school, she's never known to shirk.

* * *

ELDON BLOOM "Bloomey"

In this young man you'll find a friend of great worth;

*Who is always happy and brimming with mirth.
Of the fairer sex he is very fond;*

It's the same to him whether brunette or blonde.

* * *

WINIFRED E. BUNNELL "Dot"

We shall now introduce a class-mate, Miss Bunnell;

Who always has her school work done, and has it done well.

Smiling on the rest of us seems to be her rule;

And in the future, so she says, she's going to teach school.

S E N I O R S

ALBERT J. CONLEY

"Elmer"

*He has twinkling Irish eyes and a rosy face;
A mighty chest that he carries with grace.
You'll find it a pleasure to have him around;
You'll find him a friend that is true and sound.
Through high school in three years, a diligent lad;
Conduct, not so good, but still not so bad.*

* * *

ELMO E. ERHARD

"Mo"

*Here is a lad that our class is proud to own;
We think he'll be a great man, when he is fully grown.
He went through our high school, in years numbering three;
And we wish him luck when he goes away to study pharmacy.*

* * *

PARK ERHARD

"Slim"

Here's to Park, a studious, industrious and ambitious lad whose greatest aim in life is to become a doctor. We know that anything Park undertakes to do he usually succeeds in doing.

* * *

KATHERINE ERRIGO

"Katie"

*"If you want a thing done well, do it yourself", is Katie's motto. She is a wizard at Algebra. We often think Katie quiet, but anyone that knows her,
will tell you different.*

S E N I O R S

ETTOR GRANDE

"SHIEK"

"A great amount of studiousness mixed with a great deal of mirth."

That's our Ettor. One of his chief ambitions is to keep still in English IV. class. Does he succeed??

* * *

WILLIAM HILE

"Bill"

Bill is a brown-eyed lad

Who is noted for his fun.

His smiles are sure to make you glad,

When he gives you one.

He was the manager of the Curwensville Football team and he sure knew his "stuff"!!!!

* * *

IRENE HOOVEN

"Rene"

A nice looking fella',

And I'll surely fall!

But give me one

Who is fairly tall.

Laugh and the world laughs with you—frown and you're left alone. That seems to be Rene's motto as she is always smiling.

* * *

NORA JOHNSON

"Shrimp"

"Always laughing—never still,

Always talking—talk she will."

That's Nora—if she is around and you can't see her—you will surely hear her without a doubt

S E N I O R S

ELIZABETH KELLY "Libby"

*"Sometimes talking—sometimes still,
Usually working—for work she will."
Libby is usually quiet but when she gets started
Look Out!!! Her greatest ambition is to be a school marm.*

* * *

HUGH KELLY "Buck"

*Buck is a Senior lad
Noted for his height
Altho' he sometimes gets quite sad
We know of a girl that makes him bright.*

* * *

HENRY KIRK, Jr. "Hen"

Always busy, sometimes studying but mostly talking. Likes English and the fair sex. He is trying very hard to win ? ? ?

* * *

ELIZABETH KITTELBERGER
"Libbie"

"Accomplish that which you undertake to do", is Elizabeth's motto. She is one of the many bright students of the class and is always ready to help a discouraged class-mate.

S E N I O R S

STEPHEN KOLLER

"Steve"

Not much to say about Steve here. He is a plugger in everything he undertakes, and after all that's what counts.

* * *

BLAKE KORB

"Law"

"Law's" motto is, "Better late than never". His chief ambition is to be a great lawyer like Webster or Clay.

* * *

GLENN LEIGHT

"Bill"

Though small in stature, Glenn is well provided with high ambitions. His greatest aim is to be an engineer.

* * *

ALMA LUZIER

"Alma"

Alma is one of our many quiet students. She is very studious and as a result, is always prepared for her lessons. We wish her luck.

S E N I O R S

LEWIS FELONI

"Louie"

Louie is very popular with the girls. He was one of our 1925 football stars. He said he was going to the city to make his debut. We extend our best wishes.

* * *

BASTIL FEOLA

"Rev"

Bastil's musical ability has won for him a place in our hearts and school. It has always been his desire to become great, also to have a great vocabulary.

* * *

CHESTER FRANKHOUSER "Chet"

Chester's hardest struggle is to acquire the habit of studying. He expects to be an absent-minded professor. Chet was also one of our foot-ball stars.

* * *

ROSEMARY GALLAGHER "Rose"

Rose is the smallest person in the Senior class. She is a good sport and has a kind disposition. We hope her striving will bring the desired reward—teaching school.

S E N I O R S

RAYMOND MAUREY

"Fat"

*Hail to our Foot Ball Captain,
He's our C. H. S.'s pride,
He has helped to bring home the bacon,
And helped devour it after being fried.*

* * *

VERNA MOORE

"Vern"

*Here's a girl that's very bright,
Who does her work with all her might.
She likes the movies and the basket-ball games,
And she makes more noise than the rest of the dames—
Sometimes.*

* * *

JOSEPHINE MORGILLO

"Jo"

*This three-year student is always very happy,
And she's always sure of more than ninety;
The reason why, I've heard it said,—
Because she sleeps with the books of knowledge under her head.*

* * *

VIRGINIA MURRAY "Hand-car"

*It's very near time we're drawing the curtain,
For this "sweet young thing" who likes Burton
Man! everyone knows she's as sweet as a mellon,
But how can she help it when she eats almost as much as Helen.*

S E N I O R S

ALEX PASSARELLI

"Buff"

*He comes to school with his lessons prepared,
Because he studies hard—Oh my yes!
He likes the girls with their dresses flared,
And do they like him. Well, I guess!*

* * *

RAYMOND PATTERSON "Cronie"

*Always determined to do what's best,
Never wrong, and knows better than the rest.
He's said he's going to become an electrical engineer.
When he graduates, this year.*

* * *

EVELYN RICHARDS

"Eve"

*Evelyn is another bright spot in our Senior Class, she is always ready for a good time; a girl with pep,
a friend forever.*

* * *

ANGELINE RUBBE

"Angie"

"Angie" is a very studious ? ? ? girl who likes French very well. She has decided to become a stenographer and we are sure she will succeed.

S E N I O R S

HELEN SHIRK

"Red"

*Helen is a friendly lass,
Who never once has skipped a class, (Oh, no;)
So earnestly does she try to succeed,
Her life will be marked by some great deed.*

* * *

FREDERICK SMITH

"Fritz"

*Here's to our president,
Most honorable and kind.
A better friend than "Fritz"
Is mighty hard to find.*

* * *

PHYLLIS SMITH

"?"

*Phyllis is our beautiful blonde,
Of studying she is very fond.
She always does her duty well,
No matter where her heart doth dwell.*

* * *

KENNETH WALL

"Abe"

*Kenneth is the star center of our foot-ball team.
He is very tall but likes girls that are short. By the way, his favorite flower is the "Rose".*

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

When the portals of the C. H. S. opened on September 5, 1922, we entered as Freshmen. Although we were at first considered quite "green", the other classes soon learned that they would have to work if they wanted to keep up with us. Our class was the largest that had ever entered the C. H. S. as our enrollment numbered fifty-nine members:

Idea Benett	Blake Korb
Burton Bloom	Edna Lindgren
Eldon Bloom	Glenn Leight
Rose Bloom	Raymond Maurey
Margaret Bloom	William McClure
Hazel Benson	Le Grande McKenzie
Ruth Bilger	Gilbert Norris
Myra Bressler	Walter Olson
Harry Brown	Raymond Patterson
Winfred Bunnell	Alex Passarelli
Bastel Feola	Verna Moore
Burket Forcey	Virginia Murray
Chester Frankhouser	Helen Panco
Margaret Gates	Margaret Rankin
Grace Gourley	Evelyn Richards
Ettor Grande	Rachel Richards
Margaret Girrell	Angeline Rubbe
William Hile	Helen Shirk
Henry Hile	Frederick Smith
William Harley	William Starr
Erma Hallman	Jane Smith
Sophie Harzinski	Phyllis Smith
George Heitsenrether	Linnie Stuller
James Holton	Mabel Dale
Irene Hooven	Minnie Daub
Elizabeth Kelly	Ida Dunn
Ruth Kephart	Leon Test
Elizabeth Kittelberger	Kenneth Wall
Stephen Koller	Mariam Ware

Kenneth Wright

FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS

William McClure	President
Frederick Smith	Vice President
Jane Smith	Secretary
Ruth Kephart	Treasurer

A year later we again entered the great institution of learning of Curwensville, this time as Sophomores. This year when we looked at our class enrollment we found to our dismay that we had lost fourteen members:

Myra Bressler	LeGrande McKenzie
Burket Forcey	Gilbert Norris
Margaret Girrell	Walter Olson
Henry Hile	Helen Panco
Sophie Harzinski	Linnie Stuller
George Heitsenrether	Minnie Daub
Edna Lingren	Mariam Ware

We also learned that five new members had joined our class. They were:

Lewis Feloni	Dale Kephart
Ralph Hollopeter	Marjorie Hudson
James Strickland

This made a total of fifty students. During our Sophomore year we entertained the Senior Class at Philips Hotel in Philipsburg giving them a delightful banquet and dance.

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

William McClure.....	President
Frederick Smith.....	Vice President
Jane Smith.....	Secretary
Ruth Kephart.....	Treasurer

After another year had passed, we again returned to take our places in the C. H. S., this time as Juniors. After the roll had been taken we learned that our class had lost eighteen members leaving thirty-two industrious students. Seven of our class-mates had become Seniors:

Rose Bloom	Grace Goulrey
Hazel Benson	Ruth Kephart
Ruth Bilger	Margaret Rankin
Jane Smith

The other eleven students were working or living out of town:

Ida Dunn	William McClure
Margaret Gates	William Harley
Ralph Hollopeter	James Holton
Dale Kephart	William Starr
Erma Hallman	Leon Test
James Strickland

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Rachel Richards.....	President
Burton Bloom.....	Vice President
Elizabeth Kittelberger.....	Secretary
Phyllis Smith.....	Treasurer

This year when we again entered the C. H. S., we entered as "dignified" Seniors. Even though our Junior enrollment numbered twenty-eight members we are pleased to know that there are thirty-six Seniors in our class as ten members from the Junior class have joined us. They are:

Minnie Ardary	Nora Johnson
Albert Conley	Rosemary Gallagher
Park Erhard, Jr.	Henry Kirk, Jr.
Elmo Erhard	Alma Luzier
Kathryn Errigo	Josephine Morgillo

We have lost two of our members during the year:

Margaret Bloom	Marjorie Hudson
----------------	-----------------

Now that we, the members of the class of '26, have become Seniors and are looking forward to graduation we are happy to know that we shall soon receive our diplomas; but we feel a pang of regret at the thought of leaving the C. H. S., however we will come back as often as we can.

CLASS PROPHECY

It was a bright day in May in the year of 1936, as Henry Kirk and I (Albert Conely) alighted from a cross-town street car in the city of Pittsburgh, Pa. Confronting us as we left the car was a huge sign that announced to the world that Raymond Maurey dealt in autos and accessories. As we entered "Ray" immediately recognized us, and we explained the purpose of our visit to him.

We were about to depart on a tour of the United States and desired to buy a Ford which was to serve as our conveyance. "Ray" assured us that he could readily supply us, and ten minutes later found us ensconced in a new Ford traveling at a rapid rate of speed along the highway with New York as our destination.

Henry, the driver, who had aspirations in the line of auto racing had the car traveling under forced draught. Happening to glance back I noticed that we were pursued by a motorcycle. We were soon overtaken (naturally) and arrested for exceeding the speed limit.

The court to which we were taken, we discovered, was presided over by Hugh Kelly. We were immediately freed but as it was near dinner time "Buck" persuaded us to sample his wife's cooking. His wife we found to be Elizabeth Kittleberger. The meal she produced was fit for the Czar of Bohemia.

We proceeded on our trip and arrived in Harrisburg about midnight and put up at Hotel Concrete. The night clerk informed us that the hotel was owned by Kenneth Wall. After our breakfast the next morning we continued on our journey. As we neared Lancaster about eleven o'clock we stopped to give a young farmer a lift. The farmer we discovered to be Eldon Bloom, who informed us that he was having a great success in growing egg-plants. These he sold to newlyweds that they might always have a good supply of eggs of their own raising.

Nightfall found us in Philadelphia with nothing to do. To pass the time we leisurely made our way to a high class vaudeville show. Here we received the surprise of our lives, for who should we find but William Hile as leading man in a dance act.

At noon the next day we were traveling down Broadway in the great Metropolis of the U. S. A. We were detained some time due to a traffic jam. Upon investigating we found that Blake Korb had lost control of his Metz speedster and run it half way thru a ten ton truck. The traffic officer at the corner, whom we recognized as Lewis Feloni, grew sarcastic and remarked to us, that if "Law" wished to junk his machine he ought to take it down to Kollers Garage and let "Steve" work on it awhile. We stopped long enough to see the Metz towed away and then we continued down Broadway.

We left the city next day and journeyed on to Princeton, New Jersey, with the intentions of visiting the college there. Upon entering the college we learned that the president was Elmo Erhard and that Minnie Ardary was a teacher in English there. Having seen the points of interest in and about the college we started for Atlantic City.

During our sojourn in Atlantic City we visited all the points of interest, among which was the wonderful Steel pier on which many popular orchestral concerts were held. We found in this city Chester Frankhouser who told us that he was very well acquainted with the leader of this wonderful orchestra. We asked him for an introduction and to our amazement we learned it was Bastil Feola who took part in our High School orchestra. We then hired a wheel chair and as we asked the manager for the best man he gave us Ettore Grande. To play a good joke on us, he tried to shove us off the end of the pier, but was foiled in the attempt. Not feeling safe in the city any longer we left at a rate of speed that would make the Broadway Limited look like the "Toonerville Trolley". Leaving in such a manner it was not a question of where to, but away from.

We read a road sign and found we were on our way to the Capitol. With nothing to impede our progress we arrived at Washington, D. C. Never having been in the Capitol we secured the services of a guide. The guide was no other than Nora Johnson, who was adopted to this due to her practice in the halls of C. H. S. She introduced us to several prominent members of Congress from Pennsylvania, among them were Alma Luzier and Verna Moore. The next day we visited the Senate and were surprised to find "Fritz" Smith and Raymond Patterson there debating on the question—"Resolved: That the school term should be increased so as to take in Saturday and Sunday and provide only one week for a summer vacation." Strange to say but only natural that they did not win the debate for Kathrine Errigo and Josephine Morgillo exerted great influence on the opposite side. Writing up the debate for the Congressional Record was Irene Hoovan, while Elizabeth Kelly and Evelyn Richard were reporting for the Curwensville Herald and the Clearfield Progress. As "Fritz" and Raymond were free from their official duties for a day they agreed to show us about the city. We first visited a famous conservatory of music. The school of violin was under the efficient supervision of Rosemary Gallagher.

We tired of Washington and on the following day left for Florida. In Jacksonville, we found to our surprise, that Glenn Leight had been successful as a dealer in Real Estate.

After leaving Jacksonville we started a path to Texas that made Sherman's march to the sea look like a Sunday School picnic. We landed at the "Greasy Spoon Ranch" in Texas. Here we were astonished to find the punchers rounding up cattle with motorcycles and handcuffs. Horses were a thing of the past. Cowboys had given way to the weaker sex, for we found out that several of our classmates, Angeline Rubbe and Winifred Bunnell, were among the most proficient cattle raisers. We looked up the owner of the ranch and found him to be the husband of Idea Bennett. He directed us to a place where a rodeo was to be held, all the ranches competing. The main features of this meet was a bull fight in which a masked matedor, of well known ability, competed. One strange feature about the fight was that he did not use a red cloak to enrage the animal but made faces at it. Now thinking that this might be interesting, we approached the scene of activity. Everything was in readiness in the arena, when who should step forward and doff his hat but Alex Passarelli.

All things, unfortunately, do not have a happy ending. While traveling at a rapid rate of speed we got into an argument about the theory "that no two things can occupy the same place at the same time." The driver wishing to test the theory tried it with the Rio Grande Express. We were picked up shortly afterward by Dr. Park Erhard and his assistant, Helen Shirk. We were taken to a hospital where we received the finest care from Virginia Murray and Phyllis Smith who were nurses in that institution. They brought us pickles, onions, horseradish and other such fruit daily. After a month of this we got homesick and started toward the quaint little hamlet of Curwensville.

Now some of the readers will no doubt think this prophecy a little far fetched or exaggerated, but as I feel I am gifted with a prophetic power, I feel that the statements made here are correct. If there are any mistakes found within, please send complaints to the Dead Letter Office.

(Signed)

Ye prophet,
Albert Conley

On the 10th day of September, 1923, the doors of Curwensville High School were opened to admit the largest class of Freshmen that had ever been enrolled seventy-one in number.

We progressed very rapidly under the guidance of our efficient instructors, and soon were well accustomed to the ways of high school life. We were a very active class and took part in many school activities that year.

When we became Sophomores the following year we found that our class had lost many of its former members, leaving the enrollment at fifty. But still there remained the same determination to achieve success, and in that spirit we passed through that eventful year.

In the fall of 1925 when we took our places as Juniors, a few of our members decided to complete their course in three years, and so became Seniors. They are as follows:

Minnie Ardary, Albert Conley, Elmo Erhard, Park Erhard, Katherine Errigo, Rosemary Gallagher, Nora Johnson, Henry Kirk, Alma Luzier, and Josephine Morgillo.

However the remaining thirty-six members of the class were undaunted. Early in the year a class meeting was held. The rings were decided upon and the following officers elected:

President.....	Mary Bowman
Vice President.....	James Ammerman
Secretary.....	Verna Conley
Treasurer.....	Olga Errigo

In October a literary program was presented by the Juniors, which was very successful. During January a sleighing party, composed of Juniors, drove to Clearfield, and all who went along thoroughly enjoyed it.

Now we are looking forward with eager eyes to the glorious event when we entertain the Seniors, the Junior Prom.

The work we have done shall not be in vain, for we know that our deeds shall live after us, as we live in "Deeds, not years".

May each one of us live long and prosper.

Gilbert Woodside.

September 8, 1924 found 67 helpless little Freshies waiting to enter the doors of success. My, how those upper classmen did stare at us the first few days! But they soon got used to us and quiet and orderliness reigned. Now that we are Sophomores we can look back on ourselves and laugh at our funny antics and confusion in hunting our class room after having been directed several different places by some bright (?) upper classmen.

After becoming settled we held our first class meeting, which resulted in the election of the following officers:

President.....	Edgar Benson
Vice President.....	Charles Schlappi
Secretary.....	Ruth Bloom
Treasurer.....	Jean Pifer

and also in the choosing of our Class Colors:

Green and White

We gave two successful Literary programs and "held our own" admirably among the more advanced and more experienced classes. Toward the end of the year we learned about the new library we were to receive and incidently that we were to give $90.00 between that time and our Senior year to pay for the chairs. We immediately "got our heads together" to devise a way in which we could acquire more money. We decided to have candy sales on the street corners a few Saturday nights. These sales turned out very well and at the end of the year we were able to write our check for $49.85.

On September 8, 1925 came the opening of school, and we were jovial Sophomores. We proceeded immediately with our class meeting to organize ourselves, having by this time become accustomed to the ways of the C. H. S. The election of officers this year resulted as follows:

President.....	Catherine Smith
Vice President.....	Jean Pifer
Secretary.....	Sally Plumer
Treasurer.....	Edythe Farwell

We have had only one Literary program this year. But we are willing to forfeit this pleasure for the greater one of witnessing our Basket Ball team uphold our high standard in Athletics.

We have striven to do our work creditably during the time we have been students in the High School and can only hope that our Junior and Senior years may hold as many pleasures, and on that day that shall mark an epoch in our lives, we may all sit together on the platform and receive our diplomas.

On September 8th, 1925, the class of '29 entered the Freshman Class. It was quite a change from the Ridge View Annex, to the building on Locust Street. Being a brilliant class we made good use of the new building with the aid of our teachers, Mr. Croyle, Mrs. Henry, Mr. Haney, Miss Reichenbach and Miss King.

Our class consisted of seventy-six of which eight has gone to seek a larger field. Although we were sorry to lose them it has made our class none the less active and strong.

The curriculum included Algebra, English, History, Latin, Hygiene and Science. The rapid increase in enrollment made it necessary to relieve the congestion by building an addition to the Locust Street building. It is equipped with an auditorium having a seating capacity of three to four hundred.

It has a gymnasium, shower baths, locker rooms and other equipment for our pleasure and convenience.

There has never been a better looking, more studious or loyal class in the history of the Curwensville Public Schools. Our never dying motto is: Courtesy, Honesty and Loyalty. Late in the year the following officers and colors were selected:

President.....	William Haines
Vice President.....	Richard Wall
Secretary.....	Anabel Buterbaugh
Treasurer.....	Edward Kelly

SOCIETY

Oh gladsome is the society whirl,
In which we all take part.
It is the joy of both boys and girls,
And from us it will ne'er depart.

Our Freshman year was a very uneventful year. We were too busy to think of enjoyments then. Our only social event was a Hallowe'en Social held in the Red Men's Room.

During our Sophomore year a Hallowe'en Social was held in the Legion Room. Later entertained the Class of '24 at the Philips Hotel, Philipsburg.

Very few events had taken place in our Junior year. Our Class play, "Cupid at Vassar," was given May 8th. A dance was given in the Legion Room after the play. We entertained the Class of '25 at a banquet given in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, and then at a dance at the Irvin Park.

A social was held at the Robinson Gymnasium our Senior year. At this early date we have not yet completed our program of entertainment but assure you before the close of the school term we shall have parties, class plays and banquets.

Our literaries were also of great importance. Each of the classes rendered several programs, which were very interesting. A small admission of 10 cents was charged at each meeting. One half of the proceeds went to the class treasury and the other half to the school library fund.

Elizabeth Kelly.

THE RISE AND THE FALL OF ENGLISH DRAMA

English drama had its beginning in the eleventh century. The first drama was the early religious drama which was acted in the Churches by priests for the benefit of the people that attended Church. There were two kinds of these plays, Miracle plays, which dealt with the lives of saints and the miracles connected with them, and the Mystery plays, which dealt with the life of Christ. Later the plays became so popular that the guilds began to present them. At this time there were many peculiarities in presenting the plays. The actors had to be good or they were not well received by their audiences; small boys took the parts of ladies in the plays; the plays were presented on the streets before the time of theatres, the stage was a platform on wheels, and was moved from place to place. This platform consisted of two floors. The first was used for the dressing room, and the second the stage.

Even in the early religious plays the writers began to introduce comedy in some of the scenes, such as in the play of "Noah's Flood". When the time for the flood has come, Noah's wife refuses to enter the Ark and a domestic quarrel ensues. This comedy introduced into the religious plays was accepted very well by the people of that time, and this gave the writers more chance to branch out.

The next step in the developement of the drama was known as the Morality play. In these plays the characters were personifications of all the virtues and vices. These characters came on the stage in the guise of virtues and played the drama of life. There was a moral at the end of each one. The Morality play marks an advance by giving more scope to the imagination.

In the first part of the sixteenth century the court and the nobility began to encourage the production of the plays whose main object was to entertain. The influence of the court in molding the drama became much more powerful than that of the Church. A reason for this was that writers began to write plays for the court in which members of nobility were the actors and if they were not the highest type of plays, they were not accepted by the court. A short play which was introduced at this time was the Interlude. It became popular at the court in connection with a banquet or entertainment. Cornish and Heywood were two court dramatists that wrote Interludes, and through them the interlude obtained a place in drama. Also during this period the early comedies were introduced. The actors who took part in these plays were of the middle class.

The first English tragedy written in blank verse was acted about fifteen sixty-one. In this tragedy the author introduced the dramatic unities: unity of time, which meant that the time of the action of the play had to take place within a period of twenty-four hours; unity of place, the action of the play was supposed to take place at one and only one place. Unity of action which limited the action of the play to a certain time.

The first theatre in England was built in fifteen seventy-six. This theatre had no roof over it so there was plenty of light and air. The stage had a roof and back of the stage was a balcony which the nobility occupied; in front of the stage were balconies such as are to be found in theatres of today. The play usually began about two o'clock and lasted about two hours. The audience was very alert, because it was not tired by a long day's work, and was not made impatient by the change of scenery, since little or no scenery was used.

The audience did not attend for pastime and amusement, but came for education so that the theatres of that time played the same part as the newspapers do today. The Elizabethan people loved good poetry for its imaginative appeal, and found enjoyment in it. The audience demanded story and incident. For this reason drama attained a great height in this period. Christopher Marlowe a writer of this period, was both a playwright and an actor. He wrote all his works in six years. The most important of his works were, "Dr. Faustus", "The Jew of Malta" and "Tamburlaine". He prepared the way for Shakespeare by doing away with the dramatic unities. His success with blank verse showed Shakespeare that this was the proper versification for the drama.

The greatest of the world's writers was William Shakespeare. His life is divided into four periods. The first period or the sanguine period in which he wrote his earlier writings such as, "A Mid-summer Nights Dream", "Romeo and Juliet", etc. The second period shows his progress in dramatic art. In this period he wrote, "As You Like It", "The Merchant of Venice", etc. In the third period, in which he felt that life was a fitful fever, he wrote, "Hamlet", "King Lear", "MacBeth", etc. The fourth period displays his remarkable calm strength and sweetness. The plays he wrote during this period were, "Cymbeline", "The Tempest", etc. Shakespeare's writings, from a literary standpoint, are second only to the Bible. His writings have influenced more of the English-speaking people of the world than any other book except the Bible.

The next writer, Ben Johnson, went back to dramatic unities in his writings, and wrote only educational plays which are uninteresting today. He marks the decline of drama. Since his time drama has never reached the height it did during Shakespeares' time.

THE RIVER AND THE LEAF

The Leaf said to the River as he was lazily floating along on the River's broad back, "You make a nice steed." The River grumbled in reply, "I am tired of riding lazy Leaves and Trees down to the Sea." The Leaf laughed heartily and asked, "How are you going to stop me?" The River answered angrily, "You'll see, you'll see!" But the Leaf only continued to make fun of the River until suddenly the River cried, "Here is the way I am going to get rid of you, Mr. Leaf!" So saying, he jumped over the Falls, and the Leaf broke his neck when he struck the Rocks below.

THE BUTTERFLY ISLAND

Richard Stewart, with his friend Dal Cathcart, had gone in search of certain butterflies for the British Museum. Rumors of these butterflies had come to them through certain scientific channels. Strange to say, however, no specimens had ever been obtained. The butterflies were of rare beauty, and were found only in one place deep in the forests of the Amazon.

On arriving at port, they procured a guide who said he could take them to their destination. After a journey of several weeks, they came to a huge swamp in the midst of the forest. The guide told them the butterflies were to be found on an island in the swamp. He added that many men had gone in never to return. The word had been brought back by the terrified and superstitious guides that the place was bewitched and that no one came away from the island alive. Nothing daunted, however, they were up early the next morning and ready to start the long perilous journey through the swamp. It was hard work but by evening they had reached the island. The next day, however, the guide refused to go on with them, saying that the place was bewitched and no one ever came back who went there. After a brief consultation they decided that Stewart would go on alone with the specimen bottles while Cathcart remained behind with the guide. If he didn't return within a reasonable time then Cathcart and the the guide would go after him, and if anything had happened to him they would be able to give him help.

Stewart had gone about a quarter of a mile when the trees ended and he found himself on the edge of a field of beautiful red lilies. Flitting around the flowers were the most gorgeous butterflies he had ever seen. They had beautiful black bodies. Their wings were lavender edged with black and in the middle of each upper wing was a pure white spot with glowing purple center. As he looked he was astonished to see that the petals of the lilies were slowly opening and closing after the manner of umbrellas. The scent of the lilies was strong and peculiar and he noticed there was no sign of life there excepting the butterflies.

Greatly excited he started after a hugh butterfly. After some time he succeeded in getting several specimens and then he started back. Looking down at his hands he was horrified to see that they were swollen and discolored; his lungs, too, were paining him. The air was heavy with the perfume of the lilies; his head ached and his eyelids felt swollen and heavy. He knew that the perfume of the lilies was causing this and his only thought was to get away before he was completely overcome. Stumbling blindly along he tripped, fell heavily to the ground, and lay motionless.

Hours later Stewart slowly opened his eyes. He was lying on the ground and Cathcart was bending anxiously over him. Weakly he asked where he was and, on being told he turned over and went to sleep again. Later when he was stronger Cathcart told him how after waiting some time, he grew anxious about him and with the guide set out to find him. They arrived at the edge of the field just in time to see him as he fell. It was only by vigorously applying first aid methods that he was able to restore natural respiration. They had been horrified to find that the object over which he had fallen was the skeleton of one of the men who had perished there.

It was several days before Stewart was able to travel. Then they made their way slowly back to the coast. Two months later the two friends arrived in England and it was with great pride that they handed over these butterflies, the first specimens of their kind, to the British Museum.

SO BIG

"So Big" is one of Edna Ferbers' latest and best novels. It is more widely known than most of her other works, and the story itself is well worth the reading. It is most unusual and fascinating from cover to cover and holds the reader's interest throughout. It is utterly impossible to form the correct conception of the outcome of the story, as the result is entirely different from that imagined. The characterization is nearly perfect and the dialogue most suitable to the different characters. It is most humorous and pathetic but the latter quality reigns. The setting is of a country where the inhabitants are of Dutch decent.

A Chicago girl, being in financial difficulties after her father's sudden death, is forced to accept a position as country school teacher in the aforesaid district. After a few months she falls in love with a farmer of this vicinity and accepts his proposal.

Being unaccustomed to their crude ways, many queer episodes take place the first few years of her married life. After her husband's death she is left to provide for their son. She succeeds in giving him a college education and in persuading him not to marry a girl superior to him socially, and in the end turns out to be just an old-fashioned, loving little mother.

CLASS SPIRIT

To have Class Spirit every member must have individual spirit, which, when combined, will result in profitable accomplishments. It is necessary to have Class Spirit so that every member will co-operate and do his part in any line of work.

Any person having Class Spirit can be sighted during the games of the season and during work to be done.

It will prove true that Class Spirit is the basis for a successful year and will prove of benefit to the student as well as to the class.

We are sure the members of the Class of '26 have co-operative spirit and will succeed in all they undertake.

American Legion Contest

Curwensville High School won two of the three prizes offered by the Legionaires of Clearfield county for the best essays on the subject

"Why has the American Legion, an organization of veterans of the World War, dedicated itself, first of all to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America?"

Miss Zerfoss, Clearfield High School won First Honor; Miss Verna Conley, Curwensville High School, Second Honor; Miss Verna Moore, Curwensville High School, Third Honor.

We have not been able to secure a copy of Miss Zerfoss's Essay.

SECOND HONOR ESSAY

"Why has the American Legion, an organization of veterans of the World War, dedicated itself, first of all to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America?"

It is the duty of every American citizen to support the Constitution, particularly those who are native born, whose love of country is naturally greater than the one who chooses America for one reason or another as his adopted country.

The American Legion being made up of men of both types has not only the ordinary reasons of the ordinary citizen, but special one which are particularly associated with its organization. These are the men who offered their lives in the defense of the Constitution in time of war and they feel no less the obligation that rests upon them, for its preservation in time of peace. Therefore, the American Legion by word and deed upholds the Constitution for the following reasons:

First, because of their belief in the merits of its provisions. History has shown to this organization that never has an instrument been drawn which so amply provides for the principle that "right makes might." No correct rule of human conduct ever owed its existence in selfish or sordid interest. The American Legion being a thoroughly democratic organization, not a political machine disregarding personal interests, is trying to lift its life into the clear blue air of devotion to its country and government. Therefore, it gives its best efforts to the defense of that organ which provides for the highest development of those governed.

Second, they uphold it because of the tremendous price at which it was purchased and thus far has been preserved. Believing firmly in the integrity and wisdom of the men who formed it, they seek to preserve the spirit which animated those men of vision. They do not bemoan the depature of patriotic fervor, but believe the same spirit is yet here, sometimes sleeping it is true, but ready at the call of duty to awaken. The Legion sends out this peace time call to duty for greater respect for our laws and a greater reverence for our flag, under whose folds we have found protection for more than a hundred years. The Legion also throws out this challenge: "Shall the blood of our forefathers have been given in vain?"

The original thirteen states had their inspiration in the high hope of freedom and independence. Their problem was to attain, ours is to retain what they secured for themselves and for us. The American Legion is doing this but they are doing even more, working not for themselves, but for those generations which will come after them.

"An old man traveling a lone highway,
 Came at evening cold and grey,
 To a chasm deep and wide;
 The old man crossed in the twilight dim,
 The sullen stream held no fear for him,
 But he turned, when he reached the other side,
 And builded a bridge to span the tide.
 "'Old man,' cried a fellow pilgrim near,
 'You are wasting your strength with your building here;
 You never again will pass this way,
 Your journey will end with the ending day.
 You have crossed the chasm deep and wide,
 Why build this bridge at eventide?'
 "But the builder raised his old grey head,
 'Good friend, in the path I have come,' he said,
 'A youth whose feet must pass this way,
 This stream which has meant naught to me
 May to that fair-haired boy a pitfall be.
 He, too, must cross in the twilight dim.
 Good friend, I am building this bridge for him.' "

I hereby pledge my word of honor I have written this essay myself. I am 18 years old.

THIRD HONOR ESSAY

"Why has the American Legion, an Organization of Veterans of the World War, dedicated itself, first of all, 'to uphold and defend the Constitution of the United States of America'?"

"Life is an arrow, therefore you must know
 What mark to aim at, how to use the bow—
 Then draw it to the head and let it go."

The American Legion, by aiming at this mark, has struck the death blow to trade in blood, and has brushed away the clouds that have dimmed the sun that now shines on the eastern hills, that promised peace on earth, good will to men.

They are aiming first of all to uphold and defend the Constitution. Each man felt there was something in him which bribery could not touch, influence could not buy; something that was not for sale; something he would not sacrifice or tamper with for any price; something he would give his life for if necessary, they aimed at this something driving the World War, and in pledging themselves to uphold the Constitution, they are determined to finally hit the mark at which they first aimed that for which the Constitution stands. "Unselfish service to their country is infinitely nobler than an ambition for self-aggrandizement."

Besides this they also pledged themselves to maintain law and order; to foster and perpetuate one hundred percent Americanism, to preserve the incidents of our association in the Great War, to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to the community, state, and nation, to combat autocracy, to make right the master of might, to promote Peace and Good Will on Earth; to guard and transmit posterity, justice, freedom and democracy; and lastly to consecrate and sanctify our comradeship.

All these things aim at one goal. This goal may be reached first, by securing liberty for ourselves. Some may think that this has already been obtained, but there are many cases in which we might be more truly free. This the American Legion is attempting to do—to bring to the American people the best form of liberty.

The second step toward this goal is Universal Democracy. President Wilson said, "The world must be made safe for democracy. We have no selfish ends to serve, we desire no conquests, no dominion. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind. We shall have satisfaction when those rights have been made as secure as the faith and freedom of nations can make them."

This is the work of the American Legion to make secure these rights of mankind.

By securing true liberty for ourselves and Universal Democracy for the world, we will have reached the final goal. Peace and Good Will on earth, and the long desired time when war drums would beat no longer might come into existence and freedom be supreme. This is what the American Legion fought for and it is one of their aims. Now what better method can they follow than to pledge themselves to uphold the Constitution, which stands for justice?

They have caught this thought, given in one of Tennyson's verses:

"For I dipped into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be,
Till the war drums throbbed no longer, and the battle flags were furled,
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the World."

I hereby pledge my word of honor that I have written this essay myself. I am sixteen years old.

OUR OWN COOK-BOOK

Scandal Pie

Take a rumor—let it simmer—add a few embellishments, some assorted adjectives—a teaspoon of vinegar—let it come to a boil and stir thoroughly.

Just Desserts

Take a late home-coming husband—add hot water, pepper, spice, vinegar, mustard and tobacco; use rolling pins. Throw in a few chairs, lamps and anything handy. Lay in a cool place.

Discipline Cake

Take an unruly child, apply hairbrush or shingle—add a few warnings. Stand in a corner to cool and it will not spoil.

Moonbeams

Take a boy and a girl—add a moon—also applesauce—throw in a kiss. Cool with an icy stare.

Exchange Department

T'was a terrible night—darkness, slush and a drizzling rain, after an abundance of snow—but Gladys never gave the weather a second thought. She was always happy, and always doing her best to make others happy. It was yet early and she had not planned a thing for the evening. What could she do this dreary night? No, she wouldn't go to bed, and she had her lessons prepared for the next day's schooling. Her mother's comforting was of no avail and it left her as discontented as this type of girl had ever been. Ha! was she in love? Hardly, because she didn't think of her boy friends as seriously as she did of her friends of the feminine sex. "I know what I might do" she said, and the brilliant idea which she had in her mind seemed to delight her. Without another word she arose from the corner of the cozy window seat, where she had been idly staring into the darkness, and hastened across the floor, and soon a comfortable arm chair had almost completely enveloped her in its soft luxuriousness. Gladys was small and with a side glance at the chair one would think that it was unoccupied, for it concealed all but her dainty limbs. A moment later she was looking up and down the index of a telephone directory, and with a sigh of relief when finding the number she wanted, and her party, (on the telephone), the conversation ran thus:

"Hello,—yes—Oh, Connie, I'm so sorry you've been ill. Why didn't you call me!—Alright, the ones we were given the other day—I have a couple and I'll bring them too. Bye Bye, dear.

With these last words she "hung up", and at this instant she noticed her big brother ascending towards the front entrance. Knowing quite well that he was dating that evening and going on the same Avenue as she, she asked him to wait for her which he gladly did.

She hurriedly kissed her mother good-bye and departed with three books under her arm. A few minutes later Gladys was at her destination and her brother continued on his way. Connie's mother met her at the door and while receiving her daughter's company, Connie was slowly descending the stairs.

"Hello, old dear", cried out Connie. "Gee, I'm awfully glad you came."

"Why Connie," was Gladys' exclamation, "I was expecting to see you in bed."

"Not this girl," she replied gayly, "Three days in bed is enough for me, I go to school tomorrow. Which books did you bring?"

"Oh, there's the Osceolian from Osceola, the Breeze from Clearfield, and the Reflector from Emporium."

"Good!" answered Connie, "I have the Hurricane from Kane, and the Tattler from Ridgeway. Its too bad we don't have more, isn't it? I also have a magazine from the Cooper Township High School which is very good. Its called Cotohisc Come, lets go in here where it is good and warm," she continued, nodding towards a well arranged<sup>1</sup> living room where there was an open fire place to greet them.

"Hum, 'tis warm in here," agreed Gladys, making herself very much at home.

Connie handed her the Tattler and the Hurricane and said "I wish we could have our annuals as successful as these".

A while later they were both deeply interested in a discussion of the annuals, which was followed by "would be" absolute quietness, had it not been for the leafing of the pages. It was Gladys who broke the silence. "Connie, did you notice the wonderful scenery that Kane has?" she asked in a dreamy, yet excited, tone. Not once did her eyes leave this scene during this short conversation. She continued, "Connie, don't you think that this must be the land of artists and—and romance?" Gladys raved on, but Connie was so deeply interested in one of the books that she was "pouring" over that she failed to notice anyone talking to her. Just as Gladys last question was asked, her friend had finished reading a clever joke and she started to laugh hysterically at it. Gladys then thought she must have been talking "mush" as Connie called it, and the shyish girl (she was shy at times, especially when she thought someone was laughing at her sentimental feelings) looked up and said, "You shouldn't misjudge me this time. You knew what I meant; I love the beautiful things."

"Oh, my dear! I wasn't laughing at you. It was a joke from the Osceolian."

Then realizing how embarrassed Gladys was, she (Connie) tried to cover things over and said, "I like their short stories and poems too".

"I do too," answered her friend, trying to be deeply interested in the last statement. "Something which everyone enjoys are the "kid" pictures and cartoons like the Tattler has".

"Yes, and I've heard much comment on the one act plays."

"More snapshots would add to the attraction of the Breeze," critized Gladys.

"Oh, but their literary section is very interesting and their 'Cyclone' surely puts the pep in the pages," Connie replied.

"I couldn't find anything interesting in the Reflector," said Gladys, "but my brother has always been interested in Athletics of the High School and has been deeply concerned in their arrangement of the Sports department."

Just then Connie's mother arrived on the scene and served them with dainty refreshments. She also informed them that Gladys' parents had called earlier in the evening and said that they had an important engagement to attend and would call for their daughter on their way home.

Half an hour later Gladys' parents called for her and they departed for home. Before they started, Gladys stuck her head out the door of the car and said, "I'll see you in school tomorrow. Good-night."

"Good-night," was Connie's reply.

RESUME OF THE FOOT-BALL SEASON OF 1925

In so far as the number of games won or lost is concerned, the 1925 foot-ball season has been a very successful one for Curwensville. Five victories, three defeats, and two tie games tell a cheerful story to the loyal supporters of the gold and black who pinned their hopes on the abilities of their gridiron representatives.

The prospects for a successful season at the beginning of the year were excellent: fifteen letter men were back in school and we had as instructor, Coach McCreight who came to us well recommended by his foot-ball career at W. & J. With these facts in view, the prophecies for a record-breaking season were not unfounded.

No one can say that we were ever out-fought, and in no game was there displayed any semblance of foot-ball superiority by the opposing team.

Taking all-in-all, Curwensville, has once more shown her excellent ability in foot-ball and none of her 1925 opponents—all old rivals—can well lower their opinion of Curwensville's athletic skill and prowess.

The Falls Creek Game at Curwensville, Sept. 26.

After a month of steady practice, the coming of the Falls Creek eleven was an event looked upon with favor by the men on the team, and by the school supporters, all of whom were anxious to see the results of Coach McCreight's work. As could be expected considerable fumbling was done but the game ended with Curwensville at the big end of a 20—7 score.

The Philipsburg Game at Philipsburg, Oct. 3.

The Curwensville eleven lost to Philipsburg by a 6—0 score in one of the best exhibitions of foot-ball skill and ability seen in any game of the season. The whole team worked in perfect unison, every man fighting clean and hard.

Despite the fact that the breaks were against them, the black and gold team displayed its superiority over the opposing team in the amount of ground gained. The game was the cleanest and best game played between Curwensville and her old rival for many years, and speaks well for the efforts put into the game by the home team.

The Jersey Shore game at Jersey Shore, Oct. 10.

On a field that resembled a deserted portion of No Man's Land, the Curwensville boys, confident of victory, sure of foot and play, ran on the Jersey Shore gridiron and put up the best play ever witnessed by the Jersey Shore lads. Jersey Shore got the breaks of the game and won 14—0.

The Dayton game at Curwensville, Oct. 17.

Out of the unknown on the following Saturday, a team with a reputation a mile long sauntered into Curwensville by way of automobile. It was one of Curwensville's easy games, and the boys "were on" that day. Every one was in every play. The final score stood 46—0, Curwensville.

The Punxsutawney game at Punxy, Oct. 24.

The red and white held Curwensville through four quarters to a scoreless tie. Due to the muddy condition of the field many fumbles were made. The slippery condition of the ball and poor footing made any open work impossible and took much of the effectiveness from the line plunges and end runs with the result that neither team made any satisfactory gains. Neeper of Curwensville, was the star of the game.

---

The DuBois game at Curwensville, Oct. 31.

The game throughout was thrilling, inspiring every spectator and installing a feeling of confidence in the Curwensville supporters as well as the players. This was the greatest game of the season for Brunetti for he did all of Curwensville's scoring and thus won the game. The final score was 7—6, Curwensville again on top.

The Patton game at Curwensville, Nov. 7.

Curwensville had little fear as to the outcome of this game. They surely were a confident crew, probably a little too confident. The final score stood 0—0 in Curwensville's favor.

The Cooper game at Cooper, Nov. 14.

Curwensville finally broke the jinx which had been following them for the past several years when they defeated the Cooperites by a score of 28—0. The Cooper eleven played a fine game but were unable to break thru the Curwensville defence.

The Barnesboro game at Curwensville, Nov. 21.

All that week the coach drove his men thru the toughest possible work. On the next Friday the feeling ran high. As a result the Barnesboro team fell down to defeat before the Curwensville eleven by the score 27—0.

The Clearfield game at Curwensville, Nov. 21.

The whistle blew. Eleven men faced eleven men, blood in forty-four eyes. The captain held up his hand. The whistle blew again. Twenty seconds later twenty-two men were piled in a heap. Such a noise was never heard before. The game went on. Curwensville men at all times excelled the down river lads' squad but luck was against them. Many times they carried the ball within scoring distance only to lose it by a fumble. Thus, Curwensville met with her last defeat of the season, 13—0.

This was C. H. S.'s first year for basket ball, and not much could be expected on the account of the unexperience of the players. Although Coach McCreight worked hard to produce a winning team but this could not be done it seems because C. H. S. lost every game they played but one. In future years we hope to have a winning basket ball team in Curwensville.

The following men who played for the Gold & Black this year are as follows: R. Maurey, J. Ammerman, E. Shaffer, F. Nobbs, W. Hile, L. Feloni, A. Conley, F. Smith, C. Schlappi. C. H. S. lost three players before the season closed. They were, G. Burnette, F. Jordon and K. Wright.

The following games were played by C. H. S. under the N. W. P. I. A. A. rules for the season of 1925 and 1926.

The first league game to be played by C. H. S. was at Clearfield. C. H. S. met defeat for the first time.

Punxsutawney played C. H. S. on our own floor, the first league game to be played in the Wm. H. Robinson Gymnasium. Punxy defeated C. H. S.

C. H. S. journeyed to Du Bois where they met defeat by their experienced team.

Renyoldsville came next to play C. H. S. on the C. H. S. floor, defeating C. H. S.

C. H. S. then went to New Bethlehem, where they met defeat.

Brookville came to Curwensville and defeated C. H. S.

Clearfield then gave C. H. S. a return game, also giving C. H. S. defeat.

C. H. S. then went to Punxsutawney where they met defeat again.

DuBois was surprised when they met C. H. S. again; but DuBois won the game.

C. H. S. went away again to meet defeat at the hands of the boys of Renyoldsville.

At last C. H. S. was not whitewashed, winning their first game from New Bethlehem.

CURWENSVILLE HIGH BASKETBALL SQUAD

C. H. S. met its last defeat for the season of 1925 - 26 at Brookville.
The scores for the season of 1925 - 26 are as follows:

GIRLS BASKETBALL TEAM

Through the kindness and generosity of Mr. W. H. Robinson, the girls of C. H. S. are at last able to take part in the school athletics.

Since January the following girls have been learning the different plays and tricks of basketball under the coaching of Mrs. Henry and Miss King:

Elizabeth Kittelberger, Captain
Nora Johnson
Rose Gallagher
Sara Norris
Era Cometto
Virginia McLaughlin
Sara Louise Rhodes

Erna Bloom
Catherine Cook
Verna Conley
Helen Guelker
Mary Bulkely
Mariam Murray
Thelma Kephart

Although we have not been able to produce a winning basketball team, we feel that our start will lead to great things in the future. We had two games scheduled with Clearfield, one at home and one in Clearfield. Both resulted in defeat, but we hope that our next undertakings will be more successful.

We, the present team, sincerely hope that next year there will be even more interest shown in girl's athletics and that C. H. S. will have a real girl's basketball team.

JOKES

Miss Hipps—Have you been reading Longfellow?
Lewis Feloni—No, about fifteen minutes.

* * *

Mr. McCreight—The lesson for tomorrow will be—Blake Korb—Gee! Wait 'till I get today's out, will you.?

* * *

Junior—There is enough brass in your face to make a large kettle.
Soph.—Yes, and there's enough sap in your head to fill it.

* * *

Burton Bloom—Gee! I cracked my head open.
Mr. McCreight—Now's your chance to put something in it.

* * *

Zetler—Give me a definition of a vacuum.
Chester Frankhouser—I have it in my head but I can't express it.

* * *

"Laugh that one off", said the tailor as he sewed the fat man's vest button on with a piece of wire.

* * *

Rachel Richards walked briskly into the store and dropped her bag on the counter.

"Gimmie a chicken", she said.

"Do you want a pullet?", the store-keeper asked.

"No", replied Rachel, "I wanta carry it".

* * *

"Why did you name your little boy Prescription?" the lady asked the colored cook.

"Cause," was the answer, "I has sech a time gitten him filled."

* * *

Stop and let the train go by,
It only takes a minute;
Your car will start again, intact
And, better still, you're in it.

* * *

Raymond's girl is tall and slender;
My girl is fat and low.
Raymond's girl wears silks and satins;
My girl wears calico.
Raymond's girl is swift and speedy;
My girl, demure and good.
Do you think I'd swap for Raymond's girl?
You know darn well I would.

JUNIOR HIGH SC

"It is my joy to find at every turning of the road
The strong arm of a comrade kind;
To help me onward with my load:
And though I have no gold to give,
And love alone must make amends;
It is my constant prayer, O God!
Make me worthy of my friends."

One ship drives east, and another west,
 With the selfsame winds that blow:
 'Tis the set of the sail, and not the gale
 That decides the way to go.
 Like the winds of the sea are the ways of fate,
 As we voyage along through life:
 'Tis the will of the soul that decides the goal,
 And not the calm or the strife.

The kind of a man for you and me!
 He faces the world unflinchingly,
 And smiles as long as the wrong exists,
 With a knuckled faith and force like fists:
 He lives the life he is preaching of,
 And loves where most is the need of love;
 And feeling still, with a grief half glad,
 That the bad are as good as the good are bad,
 He strikes straight out for the right—and he
 Is the kind of a man for you and me!

ALUMNI GREETINGS

58 South 8th Ave.,
Clarion, Pennsylvania,
January 20th, 1926.

Board of Publication,
The Echo.
Curwensville Schools,
Curwensville, Pennsylvania

Dear Editors:-

Enclosed you will find one dollar ($1.00) for the annual High School publication, known as "The Echo".

My words of greeting to the class of '26 are:

Dear Class of '26: as you leave the walls of your Alma Mater, live up to the high ideals given you by your instructors; be loyal to all traditions handed down to you, and as the years, which separate you from your last year in High School mount in number, you will become more and more useful citizens and find increasing satisfaction and joy in work well done.

Sincerely yours,
(Miss) Ruth Bigler.

Mercersburg, Pa.,
February 22, 1926.

Board of Publication,
The Echo.
Curwensville, Pa.,
Dear Friends:-

As a past graduate of the Class of '17, I do earnestly appreciate the remembrances of the ones who are following through the halls of learning that I once enjoyed traveling and which will always be remembered as a stepping stone for my success in these years which have followed. Hoping many more may reach this same aim in life.

Enclosed find one dollar for the "Echo".

Hoping I may not be too late in sending in same.

As ever a patron of my home town though many miles away as home news is interesting.

Yours respectfully,
Miss Ada Passmore,

Tyrone, Penna.,
January 21, 1926.

Miss Elizabeth Kittelberger
Curwensville, Penna.
My dear Miss Elizabeth:-

Enclosed please find $1.00 for your annual "Echo".

I shall look forward to its coming.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Harriet H. Crouch

Scranton, Pa.,
January 26th, 1926.

Editor,
The Echo.
Curwensville High School,
Curwensville, Penna.

Dear Miss Kittelberger:

Your appeal for a subscription to the Echo reached me a few days ago.

It is a pleasure to send in my check and I anticipate as much enjoyment in reading it, as listening to it being read on certain Friday afternoons, a long time ago.

Yours truly,
Kenneth W. Ake

Pinehurst, N. C.,
January 20th, 1926.

Fred Smith, Business Manager,
The Echo.
Curwensville High School,
Curwensville, Penna.

Dear Sir:-

I enclose check for $1.00 for "The Echo". Please send to me at Merion Station, Pa., where I expect to be in May.

Commending your spirit and energy, I am,

Cordially yours,
H. B. Swoope

Mercersburg, Penna.
Clearfield, Pa.
January 15th, 1926.

Board of Publication,
The Echo.
Curwensville, Pa.,

Gentlemen:-

Your circular letter of the 13th, to hand and will advise you that the writer was certainly glad to receive your request; you will please find herewith attached check amounting to $1.00 in payment for one copy.

Personally the spirit of this project is worth many times the value of the price per copy, it tends to make an endless chain of all graduates that have left our Dear OLD HIGH SCHOOL and cements the close relationship to each other.

It has been almost sixteen years since the writer graduated and he regrets to state that he has not made one visit to the High School in those many years, but expects to just as soon as he can find a few spare hours.

Thanking you for your letter and trusting that you will put the ECHO across larger than ever, I am,

One of the Happy Graduates,
Isaac H. Robinson.

Chicago, Illinois,
January 19th, 1926.

Board of Publication,
The Echo,
Curwensville Schools,
Curwensville, Penna.

Gentlemen:-

Enclosed please find check for $2.00 covering two subscriptions to the "Echo", as follows:

Kathryn K. Tate, 1073 - 208 S. La Salle St., Chicago, Illinois.

W. Willis Tate, 1073 - 208 S. La Salle St., Chicago, Illinois.

With best wishes I am,
Very cordially yours,
W. Willis Tate.

Curwensville, Pa.
March 27th, 1926

Mr. Fred Smith,
Business Manager of the Echo.

Dear Sir:-

Enclosed you will find $1.00 for "The Echo". I am glad to be of service to you and the school as some of the happiest days of my life were spent in Curwensville High School.

Sincerely yours,
Rose Williams.

120 Ridgeway Ave.,
E. Stroudsburg, Pa.

Mr. Fred Smith,
Business Manager.

Dear Mr. Smith:-

Your letter of January 13th, concerning the publication of Echo at hand. I was not aware of the fact that Curwensville High had such a publication. I am enclosing the $1.00 and hope to find out more about my Alma Mater. After five years of higher study I can reflect back with pride to the preliminary work carried at Curwensville High.

Yours as an Alumnus,
Carl G. Schrop

Weber-Koch-Moran Arithmetics

Once perhaps in a generation a really good series of arithmetics appears. The publishers of the famous Brooks' Arithmetics offer now this new series which is likely also to become famous. Since the appearance of the Brooks books many an inferior series has been born and has gasped and died. The Brooks Arithmetics still live and are classics and the new Webster-Koch-Moran Arithmetics will also become classics.

OUT OF THE RUT

ROUTINE keeps to the rut and develops "single track" ideas. There is much routine in banking, but it is the young, alert and modern business-banker who changes that routine into up-to-date service. Our organization, Stockholders, Directors, Officers and Operating Staff are representative of the progressive spirit of Curwensville. That means this bank is a go-ahead institution, actively interested in giving a broad "open road" service to its depositors.

Here's to the Spirit
Of Old
Curwensville High

That makes better men and women of our boys and girls.

We Congratulate You,
members of the class of 1926
upon this momentous achievement—

Your Graduation.

It means so much to you in particular and our town
in general.

May you always average 100% in the Curriculum of life.

What will you have to show in future years for todays shopping dollars?

A purchase from A. M. KIRK & SON is an investment in permanent value

The old copy-books declare that you can't eat your cake and have it.

Which is another way of saying that you can't spend your money and keep it too.

But the copy-book editors overlooked the money spent at KIRK'S jewelry store.

On the typical purchase from us you draw an income of pleasure and satisfaction, year after year, while still retaining much of the principal in convertable value.

Value wise shoppers think twice before they barter their purse for short lived baubles. For they know that even for the limited pocket book, our stock is rich in articles both in utility and adornment that will last through a life time.

Character and Distinction

How to get that different look that attracts attention to your printing—that's a question that is bothering business men every day. The answer is the proper combination of paper, type and ink—all matters for the consideration of the printer with the proper knowledge of layout and design and ability to handle your work as it should be done.
